Parent application data at the beginning of the specification should be updated.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-7, 10-12, 26-32 and 35-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tsujide et al.

With regard to claims 1 and 26, Tsujide et al show a semiconductor wafer to be tested 1 including a plurality of die where each die has a plurality of first contact pads, an interposer which is a wafer serving as a burn-in substrate 2 which includes a plurality of second contact pads which are respectively connected to at least some of the first contact pads by attachment elements 4, 5 such that the interposer and semiconductor wafer could be singulated into chip assemblies and a communication interface 9, 23 associated with the interposer and electrically connected to at least some of the second electrical contact pads. With regard to claims 2-6 and 27-31, the connector at the end of ribbon 23 attaches to terminals 9 which are considered part of an edge connector with pins or a bayonet connector with pins. The terminals 9 are on the wafer-interposer assembly. It is considered inherent that the connector at the end of ribbon 23 would be soldered to the connector that makes contact with terminals 9. With regard to claims 7 and 32 any connector is an RF connector in the broad sense. With regard to claims 10-12 and 35-37, the connector connecting the end of ribbon cable 23 to terminals 9 is considered a quick release connector. The apparatus to Tsujide et al tests and does burn-in prior to singulation.

Applicant argues that Tsujide et al does not non-temporarily electrically and mechanically connect the interposer to the semiconductor wafer. Nothing is permanent on

Art Unit: 2829

Earth or the Heavens above and the apparatus of Tsujide et al is considered permanent if nobody takes it apart. Applicants do not define or give special meaning to "non-temporary". The term non-temporary does not even appear in Applicant's disclosure. "Non-temporary" could be argued to mean connected by solder but a solder joint can be considered as temporary in that a solder joint can be desoldered. The connection of interest in Tsujide et al is considered to be non-temporary.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 8, 9, 33 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tsujide et al in view of White et al.

Tsujide et al was discussed above but does not show coupling via optical or antenna techniques. White et al show coupling a tester to a device being tested via optical means or RF using an antenna means. (See column 5 of White et al.). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have adapted the optical or RF technique of White et al to the apparatus of Tsujide et al because one of ordinary skill in the art would realize that so doing would enable use of the apparatus of Tsujide et al without the encumbrance of wires.

Rebuttal of Applicant's arguments against Tsujide et al are set forth above.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

Art Unit: 2829

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
